TALK TO CLAUDE LIKE YOU'D TALK TO KYLE

Say what you want in plain words. Claude checks your sheets, writes the draft and hands it back. You (or staff) hit send.

1. Open Claude on your phone or computer.
2. Say a line from these cards. Fill in the [gold brackets].
3. Read what comes back. Change it by just saying so: "shorter", "friendlier", "add the price". Then send it yourself.

THE 3 GOLDEN RULES

- Drafts only. Claude never sends, posts or pays anything.
- You and the officials decide every bout. Claude only flags problems.
- Only "Paid" counts as money. Promised isn't paid.

YOUR DAY

Constrictor HQ: tasks, approvals, staff and the inbox.

“Morning report”

Today's schedule, what needs your OK, overdue tasks, money, new gym inquiries, the next show, inbox and your top 3 moves.

“Monday report”

The morning report plus last week's numbers and the week ahead.

“What's on my plate?”

Your open tasks, most urgent first.

“Brain-dump: [just talk for a minute or two]”

Turns a voice note or rant into tasks, drafts and reminders.

“Go through my approvals”

One at a time: yes, change it, or no.

“Ask [Sean] to [do this] by [Friday]”

Makes the task for HQ and drafts the message for you to send.

“Sort my inbox”

Sorts the last 3 days of email, leaves reply drafts in Gmail and flags what needs you.

THE GYM

Messages, members, posts and classes.

“Reply to this: [paste the message]”
A friendly reply with the right class, price and the free first class.

“Who should I check in with? [attach the Gymdesk attendance export]”
Members not seen in a month, with a short message for each.

“Posts for next week”
Three gym posts with captions, ready to copy.

“Plan [Wednesday's kids boxing]”
A timed class plan from the Coaching Library, safe for the ages.

“Progress card for [first name]”
Their Skills Passport level and what's next, for the parent.

“Write an announcement: [holiday hours]”
A post and a members' message.

“Who owes us? [attach the Gymdesk payments export]”
Overdue payments with a friendly reminder for each, for your OK.

PLAN A SHOW

Where, when and will it make money.

“Where should the next show be?”

Ranks towns and venues, with likely profit.

“Compare [Town] and [Town]”

Side by side: venue, crowd, costs, likely profit.

“Does [date] clash with anything?”

Checks local events, holidays and other fight shows.

“Should [Town] be adults-only?”

All ages vs a 19+ area vs adults-only, in dollars.

“Draft a venue quote request for [venue]”

An email asking for price, dates and what's included.

“How are ticket sales?”

Sold vs goal, and which links and posts are selling.

The checklist, with what's overdue first.

“Who do I owe a call?”

Venues, gyms and media due a follow-up.

FIGHT NIGHT

Fighters, the card and the night itself.

“Find fighters for [Town]”

Messages to gym coaches, and the sign-up form.

“Who could fight who?”

Matchups that fit Ontario's rules, with any problems flagged. You decide.

“Send the bout offers”

A draft offer to each coach.

“Send the fighter packages”

Each fighter's package and promo link, through their coach.

“Who's ready to fight?”

Paperwork and medical status: Yes, No or Pending. Never details.

“Run of show and announcer script”

The night minute by minute, and every sponsor read.

“Do the report”

After the show: results, money, the Commission report due in 14 days.

SPONSORS & TICKETS

Sponsors, ads and graphics.

“Find sponsors in [Town]”

Local businesses that fit, with a reason for each.

“Draft pitches for [businesses]”

A personal pitch for each, with the right package.

“Do my follow-ups”

Everyone due a nudge today. Every Monday.

“How are sponsors going?”

Paid vs goal, signed-but-unpaid, and who to call.

“[Business] said yes”

Drafts the thank-you and lists what to update and what they're owed.

“Is this ad worth it?”

Keep it if a ticket costs about $20 or less to sell.

“Canva text for the [fight card]”

Which starter design to use and the exact words for it.

MONEY & FUNDING

The monthly picture and grants worth chasing.

“How did we do in [September]?”
In, out and what's left for BBG and CCCL, from the Money Summary.

“Anything new out there?”
Monthly scan: new funding, events, rule changes, sponsors.

“What funding fits [kids programs]?”
Programs we can apply to now, with amounts and dates.

“Are we eligible for [Canada Summer Jobs]?”
Goes through the rules one by one, with the source.

“Draft the [Canada Summer Jobs] application”
Real facts only, gaps marked for you. You submit.

“Funding deadlines”
Everything due in the next 60 days, with the next step.

“A parent asked about help with fees”
A kind reply about Jumpstart, which BBG is signed up for.

SECOND CHANCE & YOUR PAGE

Your nonprofit, kept separate, and your own posts.

“Where are we with Second Chance?”
Setup steps done, what's next, and whether the board is ready.

“Draft a letter to [partner]”
A short intro and one clear ask. You send it.

“Plan a placement for [first name]”
Safe roles only, and never CCCL alone.

“Who's due for a check-in?”
First names and a friendly message for each.

“Posts for my page this week”
Monday tip, Wednesday behind the scenes, Friday Get back up.

“Write my speaker intro”
For schools, banquets and events.

RULES & WHERE THINGS LIVE

CLAUDE FOLLOWS THESE. SO DO WE.

- First names only in the sheets. No card numbers or personal phone numbers.
- Medical: Yes, No or Pending only. Details go to the physician and the Commission.
- Kids: never in ads or press releases. Photos only with a parent's written OK.
- No prize worth $300 or more. It would make a fighter a pro.
- No cannabis or vape sponsors. Alcohol and betting get flagged first.
- Real numbers only: 400 tickets and 15 sponsors are real.
